Nice to meet you, I'm Paulo (paw—lu). I'm a Product Designer with 18+ years of experience turning ideas into meaningful experiences for the tech world. I'm all about the details — obsessed with typography, passionate about accessibility, and always aiming to create designs that just feel right.

Along the way, I've led teams, managed projects, and learned how to balance business goals with great user experiences. Whether designing or collaborating, I bring curiosity, experience, and a passion for creating work that truly connects.
